BEST BET: Race 2 - #6 Mr. Kisses

While there is some other speed for him to deal with in here, I do think Mr. Kisses just might be faster than these, especially on the drop in class. He comes out of a good race that produced two next out winners, including Mo Cash, who took a stake at Tampa. This gelding should be primed and ready for this year's Championship Meet debut.

LONGSHOT: Race 8 - #1 Hyatt's Dude

Making his second start off of a roughly 15 month layoff, this gelding returns to the grass, which is most definitely his preferred surface. He has natural early speed, and should be able to use that to his advantage with the inside draw. It is a kind of homecoming, as well, as he broke his maiden in 2016 at Gulfstream under another trainer.
