BEST BET: Race 9 - #6 Mr. Macfadden

It's always a tough ask for a horse to win three races in a row, especially at a lower level like this, but I just think that Mr. Macfadden has been in such sharp form since moving to the Jorge Navarro barn and should continue in the same direction. He has handled everything that has been thrown at him, and comes right back at this same $6,250 level to try and get his third career win. Emisael Jaramillo, who piloted him to victory last time out, has the mount again today.

LONGSHOT: Race 13 - #11 Live Like Larry

The Saturday finale looks like the perfect race to find a longshot. I thought this field – which is full of questions – could be asking for a first time starter, who just doesn't have as many excuses as some of the others that he faces today. Send out for a good bar in Stanley Hough, Live Like Larry should love the turf, being by Violence and having two siblings who won on grass, including multiple stakes winner Daddy Nose Best.
