

RACE BY RACE ANALYSIS

By Acacia Courtney

Wednesday, December 6, 2017

RACE 1:

7 – Elite Heir
5 – Meant Tobe Mine
1 – Arch Legacy

SELECTIONS: 7-5-1-4

RACE 2:

1 – R Secret Life
5 – Blue Chip Prospect
6 – Burton

SELECTIONS: 1-5-6-8

RACE 3:

3 – Flashing Diamond
2 – Intactus
7 – Hold On Emma

SELECTIONS: 3-2-7-6

RACE 4:

9 – Lucky Clemen
4 – K K's Revolver
3 – Salsa Capuchino

SELECTIONS: 9-4-3-2

RACE 5:

8 – Lemon Royal
3 – Mister Monk
2 – Cotton Colors

SELECTIONS: 8-3-2-6

RACE 6:

7 – Untruthful Sonnet
2 – Sunfest
6 – Mo's Ginny

SELECTIONS: 7-2-6-9

RACE 7:

7 – Purely Boy
2 – Regal Kitten
10 – Brickyard Kitten

SELECTIONS: 7-2-10-4

RACE 8:

2 – Miss Sophia's Star
5 – Quickluckycoco
4 – Galileo's Affair

SELECTIONS: 2-5-4-9

RACE 9:

5 – Charlie Mops
3 – Robusto
4 – Run Time

SELECTIONS: 5-3-4-8

RACE 10:

11 – Baylor
10 – Infinite Oz
6 – Trapped at Sea

SELECTIONS: 11-10-6-12

BEST BET: Race 7 - #7 Purely Boy

This 8-year-old gelding has already accomplished quite a lot in his career, and he has plenty of back class. With two in-the-money finishes on his resume after a roughly 17 month layoff, he drops in for the tag, a move which is very productive for trainer Mike Maker on the turf. He just might find himself in the right spot today, and, hopefully, no quite so far off the pace.

LONGSHOT: Race 8 - #5 Quickluckycoco

She has already had nine starts and enough chances to get the maiden diploma, but there are a few things that make this filly a bigger player today. For one, the blinkers come right off after they clearly did not work last time out, and Edgard Zayas will climb aboard. Most importantly, however, she gets a drop in class, back down to this claiming level where she was beaten only a neck two starts back. Speed is definitely key over this track, and she has it in spades.